

Research

A seat at the table and the project itself	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What was the problem/research question/s – and was it clearly stated? • How well did the project answer an agency question? • How applicable to operational activity was the project? • What was the process you used to research the problem? • What were the key outcomes – and were they clear? • Were opportunities taken to work with (other) agencies?
Creating connections	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Were opportunities taken to work with other agencies? • Have the research outcomes provided a foundation for further relationships or built substantially on an existing network? • Has the project or activity provided a foundation for further research and/or built substantially on an existing research?
Community focus and research ethics	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How well was the target/participant community/ies researched and understood in the development of the project or activity? • How well did the project or activity recognise the diversity within a community and then accommodate these with diversity in participant recruitment? • How well were obstacles and problems articulated? • What were the shortcomings/limitations of the project – and how will these be used in lessons learned in future?
Creating networks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What cross-agency co-operation occurred within the project (where relevant)? • What existing foundations were leveraged? • What network improvements were made within the agency/ies (or could potentially be made) during or as a result of the research findings? • How did you conduct extension with agencies about your research results? • How well were the results translated into implementable actions?
